Message from Binghamton University's Chief Diversity Officer

Greetings University Faculty and Staff:

The mission of the Office of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion is to advance Binghamton University's teaching, research and service mission and commitment to excellence by working collaboratively throughout the institution with faculty, staff and students to promote a campus climate that values diversity, equity and inclusion, and is free of bias and harassment.

We are in a new and exciting phase at Binghamton University as we continue to work towards making the university a premier, diverse, and inclusive institution. Recruitment is an important tool in ensuring we fulfill this goal. The aim of this guide is to assist staff in making those connections.

We hope that you will find our office as an important partner in supporting your efforts.

Warmly,

Chief Diversity Officer

Overview of Recruitment Policy

This procedure has been developed to support Binghamton University's commitment to Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action and to ensure compliance with State and Federal requirements.

Overview of Recruitment Policy

1. Every administrative/academic officer and search committee must make an active and thorough effort to recruit for each faculty and professional employee position, whether full or part-time and regardless of source of funding, members of underrepresented groups, women, veterans and persons with disabilities. Exceptions to this general philosophy must be approved by the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (ODEI) on campus.
2. This effort will be viewed as an important factor in determining the acceptability of a position recommendation. Affirmative Action efforts augment, rather than replace, previous recruiting procedures. The recommendation and the appointment are to be made on the basis of qualifications for the position, and it is considered proper to redefine eligibility criteria to broaden the base of the talent pool to include special experience, training, and education not normally considered when such factors are important characteristics of eligibility for the position. Such consideration must be applied equally to all candidates for a position.
3. Special attention to the identification, recruitment, and selection of underrepresented groups, women, veterans and persons with disabilities is consistent with state and federal law, orders and regulations, and the policy adopted by the State University of New York Board of Trustees. No person is to be accepted or rejected solely on the basis of sex, minority group membership, disability, or sexual orientation.

Recruitment Plan prior to recruitment season

Each Vice President is responsible for creating a recruitment. For faculty recruitment the department will complete the plan. A recruitment plan consists of the number of positions, titles to be filled in the respective academic year, and a description of the types of recruitment activities planned. Upon completion, recruitment plans should be sent to the ODEI. ODEI can provide advice and resources to assist with implementation of the Divisional Hiring Plan.

For faculty: each spring semester the Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost sends out a notification soliciting requests for faculty recruitment for the following year. The form to complete those requests is under the highlights section at <http://binghamton.edu/academics/provost>

Recruitment Process

1. Each individual completing recruitment plans is responsible for contacting the Chief Diversity Officer who may advise the division in developing general procedures that will ensure the most efficient distribution of information about available positions to underrepresented groups, women, veterans and persons with disabilities, in order to encourage applications from these sources.

2. Position qualifications should be reviewed carefully to assure that the description does not in itself discriminate against the selection of applicants from underrepresented groups, women, veterans and persons with disabilities.
3. Upon completion of recruitment plans, Part I: Notice of Vacancy and Recruitment Plan should be completed and sent through channels for search plans. It is important to assure that lines are available and funded prior to initiating any searches - this can be confirmed with your department or through the Human Resources Office.
4. Whenever possible, underrepresented groups, women, veterans and persons with disabilities should be included on search committees even if it is necessary to go outside the hiring unit or division to ensure the participation of such individuals.
5. Hiring Forms from ODEI are available in the Human Resources Office and online at <http://binghamton.edu/odei>
6. All correspondence and advertising are to include the abbreviated Affirmative Action statement: "Binghamton University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer". All recruiting sources are to be informed of Binghamton's adherence to Affirmative Action policies by the person who initiates the contact.
7. A list of specific sources of candidates from underrepresented groups, women, veterans and persons with disabilities should be compiled by the individual unit offices with the assistance of ODEI. Some forums to be considered are national organizations that have been formed to establish talent pools of underrepresented groups and women, professional organizations' specialized employment agencies, women's colleges, colleges with high underrepresented group enrollment, underrepresented group and women scholars in other institutions, and newspapers with high readership by members of underrepresented groups and women, and professional websites.
8. Unless evidence is documented that extraordinary efforts to recruit them have been made and have failed, the group of applicants considered should include qualified underrepresented groups, women, veterans and persons with disabilities.
9. There are limited conditions under which a person may be recommended for a position without widespread recruitment efforts:
 - a. Under the Internal Promotion procedure for Professional UUP Employees, the University will give initial consideration in promotion to its professional employees for vacancies in titles as designated. In other tiers, other eligible BU employees will also be considered for promotional opportunities. The Office of Human Resources has full information about this Plan and a copy can be viewed from the Human Resources website. It should be noted that requests to waive conditions of the internal promotion plan or external searches will normally not be granted by the ODEI for professional positions within the unit represented by UUP unless a substantive case can be made for this action.
 - b. Other cases for less widespread recruitment efforts may be justified when in the spirit of workforce succession programs, a qualified individual may be promoted from within the organization, when time is of the essence, when campus operations would suffer as the result of an interim appointment, or when a person is available who is uniquely qualified for the position. By their very nature, such cases are rare, and their acceptability is measured not only against the urgency of that particular appointment, but also against overall efforts to use members of underrepresented groups, women, veterans and persons with disabilities in the unit which has recommended appointment. Documentation of the special circumstances must be made, and, as in all other cases, the Chief Diversity Officer must approve the ODEI Hiring Form attached to such documentation.

10. Part IIa: Pre-Screening/Remote Inquiry Approval and Part IIb: Pre-Screening/Approval for Interviews of the ODEI hiring forms must be filed and approved by the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion prior to any interviewing.

11. The final filing of the ODEI Hiring Forms, Part III: Recommendation of Finalist, must be completed and approved by the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion prior to any hiring offer being extended to a candidate. The Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion will keep a copy as will the department responsible for the search.

*Other methods to consider to assist with recruitment are sending letters through institutional disciplines/networks. ****

Accessing Hiring Forms and Documents

Hiring Forms Part I-III

Electronic versions, in Word and Adobe PDF, of the hiring forms Part I-III are available through the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusions website at binghamton.edu/diversity-equity-inclusion/resources/hiring.html.

Please note: To ensure that you are using the most up-to-date version it strongly encourage that you access and download the form from ODEI's website each time it is needed.

Recruitment and Hiring Process Presentation

If you would like an indepth refresher on Binghamton University on the Binghamton University Recruitment and Hiring Process, you can access the Recruitment and Hiring Process Presentation at binghamton.edu/diversity-equity-inclusion/resources/hiring.html

Interview Questions: Lawful and Unlawful Inquiries

Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion provides a guide on questions that may or may not be asked during the interview process as a supplement to this resource guide. You may find "Interview Questions: Lawful and Unlawful Inquiries" in the Resources section of the ODEI website or by visiting <http://binghamton.edu/diversity-equity-inclusion/resources/hiring.html>

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What is the protocol for position recruitment?

A: Refer to page 4 of this document. You can also visit <http://bingdev.binghamton.edu/administration/procedures/600series>

Q: Where do I send my completed Notice of Vacancy and Recruitment Plan form?

A: Send your completed Part 1: Notice of Vacancy and Recruitment Plan, and all other hiring forms to the Chief Diversity Officer in the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion by fax and campus mail.

Q: What are inappropriate questions to ask during an interview?

A:

Q: What are the steps I should take if an applicant files a complaint against my department?

A: Contact the Chief Diversity Officer. For more information on the process please visit <http://www.binghamton.edu/diversity-equity-inclusion/policies/complaints.html>

Q: Is there a difference between affirmative action, civil rights, and diversity?

A: There are several definitions for these terms. Affirmative action is a federally mandated program for federal contractors as it relates to employment. Civil rights result from a series of federal and state civil rights laws and provide protection from discrimination and harassment on a variety of bases, including race, color, national origin, gender, age, disability, religion and veteran status. Diversity can be defined in many ways, including diversity of thought, experiences, and backgrounds. Together, all three can contribute to a more welcoming, inclusive, supportive, diverse, and respectful working and learning environment that is free from discrimination and harassment (Anthony Walesby, "Facts and Myths of Affirmative Action"). For the full article visit: HigherEdJobs

Q: Do I have to use Interview Exchange?

A: Yes. Interview Exchange is our required applicant tracking system.

Q: Do I have to interview all candidates of interest even though I haven't completed all the interviews because one candidate meets all the criteria?

A: Yes. Even though one candidate may stick out the most in your candidate pool, all candidate names that have been submitted for interview must be interviewed.

Q: What's the difference between a "pre-screen remote inquiry" and "remote or on campus" interview?

A: A pre-screen remote inquiry is to allow the search committee to ask clarifying information for candidate's consideration. A remote or on campus interview is for candidates that have been selected for position consideration.

Q: For candidates that are being interviewed remotely, do I have to use the same questions I am utilizing for those candidates I am interviewing on campus?

A: Yes. All candidates that are being interviewed must be interviewed fairly in order to ensure adherence to our Affirmative Action process.

Q: Do I have to use the same questions for each candidate that I am doing a pre-screen remote inquiry with?

A: No. Each candidate has different questions that need to be clarified on their application.

Q: Can we interview someone that is going to receive their degree (or will be graduating) around the time of the position vacancy?

A: Yes. As long as the candidate has met the degree requirement by the time the position is offered.

Q: For a one year position, do we need to complete the ODEI Search forms I-III?

A: Yes. For any candidate under consideration, the search committee must complete the ODEI search forms I-III.

Q: If a candidate declines a position offer, do I need to notify ODEI?

A: Yes. This will provide for better candidate tracking and ensures position opportunity for other candidates.

Q: I am unsure of the race/ethnicity, gender of the candidate, do I need to complete these on the professional recruitment forms?

A: Yes. As part of our university's mission around diversity, equity, and inclusion we need to ensure that we are offering equal opportunities to all qualified candidates.

Q: Do I need to include copies of where I post my job advertisements?

A: Yes. A copy of the job advertisement locations should be attached to ODEI Part I form.

Q: Is the job advertisement posting process the same for international recruits?

A: No. If the hiring unit anticipates the potential hiring of a foreign national and subsequent petitioning for permanent residency, there are specific advertisement procedures that need to be followed, including at least one print advertisement OR posting for a minimum of 30 days on the website of a professional journal.

Q: How long should the interview cycle last?

A: Interview cycle duration from application to interviews ideally should take 60 days; however, that may vary somewhat by position.
